TWO HORSE SHOWS AT THE FAIR

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — It will be just like the "good old days" on the Porterville fair grounds when horses take the afternoon spotlight today and tomorrow in open, breed association shows.

At 2 p.m. today, Thursday, Arabian horses will be shown in the grandstand area, with Donald Jones, Porterville Arabian breeder, in charge. Judge will be Howard Deane, of Pomona.

Quarter horses will move in on Friday, starting at 12 noon, with Fair Director Guido Lombardi in charge of this event.

BARTLETT BAND ON FAIR STAGE TODAY

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — Bartlett band, under direction of Jerry Kuhlmann, will be on the Porterville fair stage this evening, Thursday, during the pet parade, and will play concert numbers following the parade, which starts at 6:30 p.m.

Playing also during the three-day fair will be bands from Pioneer junior high, Saturday; and Pleasant View and Ducor, Friday, with Fair Director Bob Bennett stating that band concerts are scheduled each afternoon at 6:30 p.m.

FAIR ADMISSION

Adults - - - - -	$1.50
Students - - - - -	.50
Children - - - - -	.25
Wooden Nickels Accepted

Admission price is for the entire fair, including the outdoor Centennial stage show each evening.

SENSATIONAL ACT for the 1961 Porterville fair will be a free-fall parachute jump at 6:30 p.m. each afternoon of the fair, with above group, from left, Norton Smith, Marilyn Hanson, and Frank Hutchins, of the Avenal Parachute Jumping Center, bailing out at 7,500 feet over the fair grounds, free-falling to 2,000 feet, then landing in the area just south of the fair grounds. The jumpers will trail smoke behind them and pass a baton between them prior to opening their chutes. Come early to the fair - don't miss this great added feature for the Centennial fair, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Biggest Fat Stock Sale In Fair's History Coming Up On Saturday Afternoon, May 20

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — The biggest fat stock sale in the 14-year history of the Porterville fair will be coming up next Saturday, at 1:30 p.m., when 255 lots will be offered by Future Farmer and 4-H exhibitors. Going on the block will be 105 head of fat steers, 100 fat lambs and 50 barrows, plus three Holstein springers. Persons not able to attend the sale can phone orders to Sale Manager Rolla Bishop, SU 4-5599.

Calling the sale will be Col. Harry Hardy and "Skinner" Hardy, of Bakersfield; ring men will be provided by the California Farm Bureau Marketing association, and by the Bakersfield Livestock Auction; clerks will be Earl W. Reed and Jim Martinez; cashier will be Hubert Johnson; disposition cards will be handled by Myrtle Lough; record of sale will be kept by Constable Tommy Thompson, Jack Gilliam and Tex Davis.

Opening the sale will be Judge

334 HEAD OF LIVESTOCK ON FAIR GROUNDS

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — Future Farmers and 4-H club members are showing 334 head of livestock at the 1961 Porterville Centennial fair that opened this morning, it was stated by Fair Secretary Rolla Bishop.

Beef cattle will total 116 head, with probably 105 head to sell in the fat stock auction on the fair grounds Saturday afternoon. Fifty-three head of hogs, 120 head of lambs and 45 dairy animals complete the division.

Judging in all livestock sections will start Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock; grand champion judging of fat animals is set for 7 p.m., Thursday.

COLORFUL PROGRAM READY FOR CENTENNIAL FAIR THAT OPENED THIS MORNING

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — Porterville's 1961 Centennial fair opened this morning at the Porterville fair grounds and municipal ball park, with a three day and night run to continue through Friday and Saturday.

Features of the fair will be highlighted by an outdoor Centennial stage show each night, starting at 8:15 p.m., when top professional acts will be presented against a backdrop of Porterville's Main street as it was in "the good old days."

A three-person parachute drop — two men and a girl — is set for 6:30 p.m. each evening, and there will be barbershop quartet singing following the Centennial stage show.

Elementary school bands will appear in concerts each evening, starting at 6:30 p.m.; a pet parade for elementary-age children will be held on opening day, also at 6:30 p.m.

Junior fat stock sale, and springer heifer sale, will be a high point of the fair for Future Farmer and 4-H club exhibitors, with this annual event of the Porterville fair set for Saturday, May 20, at 1:30 p.m.

Junior horse show and gymkhana will provide action and competition for youngsters from eight to 18 years of age on Saturday morning, May 20, at 10 o'clock, and two breed association shows are booked for the fair: Arabian horses on Thursday, May 18, at 2 p.m.; Quarter

Gymkhana Saturday Is Fair Feature

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — Deacon Hobbs, of Porterville, trainer at the E. L. Beaver Quarter Horse ranch, will judge events of the Junior Horse Show and Gymkhana that will be a Saturday morning feature of the Porterville fair, May 20, according to John Keck, show chairman.

Nine events are listed for the show, with entry blanks available at the Porterville chamber of commerce office, or by writing P. O. Box 1110, Porterville. Deadline for entry is 6 p.m., May 18, with entry blanks to be mailed in, or presented at the fair grounds office.

Events of the show and gymkhana are open to boys and girls from eight to 18 years of age. The show will start at 10 a.m.

Assisting Keck in staging the show are: Donald Jones, Herb Brown, Uly Priftike and Bill Rodgers.

SU 4-5599

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — Telephone number for the Porterville fair office on the fair grounds is SUset 4-5599. The office will be kept open by Fair Secretary Rolla Bishop until business is completed after close of the fair.

NELSON McINICH, rated as one of the west's top farm reporters, will act as master of ceremonies at a livestock exhibitors awards banquet that will be given as a feature of the Porterville fair the evening of Saturday, May 20.

Nelson McInich Will MC Awards Banquet At Fair

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — Nelson McInich, KNX radio farm reporter, heard each day, Monday through Saturday, at 12:15 p.m., will act as master of ceremonies at 4-H and Future Farmer livestock awards banquet that is scheduled for Saturday evening, May 20, as a feature of the Porterville fair.

Arrangements for the appearance of McInich were made by Reed V. Hastings, of Hastings Equipment company. International Harvester dealer in Porterville. McInich is sponsored by International Harvester and by Sunkist Growers Inc. For several years he has attended the Porterville fair, and he will again tape interviews on the fair grounds for release on his radio program.

BILL SHARMAN INVITED TO SPORTS BANQUET

PORTERVILLE, May 18 — Bill Sharmen, former Porterville high school athlete, former Boston Celtic basketball star, and now manager-coach of the Los Angeles Jets, has been invited to annual spring sports banquet set for tonight in the Terra Bella Memorial auditorium, under sponsorship of the Porterville college student council.

Bill Vandenburg, director of athletics at Alameda State college, will speak; Mike Neufeld, student chairman; a ham dinner, for $1.50, will be served; reservations can be made by phoning the college office — SU 4-7000.

CARLA CLOER, of Porterville, Tulare County's 1961 Maid of Cotton, at left, with Jackie Endsley, also of Porterville, attendant. Both Miss Cloer and Miss Endsley, who are Porterville college students, were selected Saturday night at Dinuba in county-wide competition for the title; Miss Cloer will appear Friday night at the Porterville Fair to be presented from the main stage at 8 p.m., after which she will award plaques to county winners of a store window cotton display contest being held this week in connection with National Cotton week.

ACTION AT THE AUCTION

There'll be action at the auction, come Saturday afternoon on the Porterville fair grounds, and we can think of any number of reasons why you should be there.

First off, there is always a certain amount of excitement and entertainment around any livestock auction — and more than usual when boys and girls who you know, or whose families you know, are in the ring with animals that were not cheap to begin with and to which have been added weeks and months of care, and feeding, and grooming as Future Farmer or 4-H club projects.

Sale of these animals represents the culmination of a project, and whether or not that project is a financial success depends upon the auction price the animal brings.

So when you buy at the Porterville fair's junior fat stock auction you are giving a boost to a young person who, in just a few years, will be taking his or her place in this community, or some other community, as a good, solid citizen.

But there are other aspects of the Porterville fat stock auction. The animals offered here — beef, barrows and lambs — are just the best that can be produced; they are fed and finished, and when they are hanging on the hook, or are in your frozen food locker, they represent the best and tastiest meat that anyone can get, anywhere.

While you may pay a premium over straight market, you still get a bargain — for two reasons: First it is difficult to purchase meat of this quality; and, in the second place, you wrap it up actually for less than it would cost you retail.

So you will find some good entertainment, you will be helping a 4-H or Future Farmer member complete a successful livestock project, and you will be doing yourself and your family a favor by providing some mighty fine eatin' when you patronize the Porterville fair sale.

So, don't miss the action at the auction. It's Saturday, May 20, at 1:30 p.m.

See you at the fair.

Our Town

By GARDNER WHEELER

BUSY MONTH SWEEPSTAKES GOES TO MAY, HANDS DOWN

IF THEY EVER HAVE a Busy Month's Sweepstakes, 'round and about our town, the month of May is going to win it, hands down. It seems like everything happens in May hereabouts, as all the deep laid plans of winter come into bloom along with the flowers. Fishing season jumped the gun a bit but came into its own in May. Many a peaceful home has been roused from morning slumbers, by the "fisherman" of the premises staggering off in the early dawn to match wits with the wily trout. Sometimes our sportsman has to match wits with his ever-loving, too, when he staggers home in the evening. That makes a long day.

THE FISHING WAS NO sooner safely started, than Tulare county's answer to Lake Tahoe, huddling up behind Success Dam, was opened to the public. Some carpers claimed that if a dozen small boats were set end to end, you could walk across this body of water without getting wet. Some claim two dozen boats would be more accurate. All in all, it's a cozy little pool and creates a great feeling of togetherness among water skiers and on-lookers.

THE CINCO DE MAYO also turned up on schedule to add zest to the lives of many more citizens. This celebration from below the border had its roots in politics, but it has also turned into quite a recreational activity, to say the least. Fiestas and dances are for the young at heart.

BEFORE THE WEEK WAS out the annual Porterville Rodeo had come and gone. As usual, in this contest between man and beast, man was declared the winner, as far as picking up the swag was concerned. Most animals feel that "money isn't everything", and went back to munching hay after the contests. Naturally, the Rodeo was accompanied by organized confusion by Western Day at the schools which always taxes parents' patience and checkbooks; by dances of the worn heel style; and by parades. In fact, parades have become so commonplace hereabouts, that they are thinking of closing Main and changing the name to Parade Blvd.

NOW, AS THE CITIZENS ARE drawing breath and trying to get re-oriented, they are faced with the Porterville Fair and Junior Livestock Show. This too, can be a crisis in many a home, as the younger generation plots to live it up for the three day run. The only way to cope with the Fair is to train for it and meet it head on. Training is relatively simple. Practice walking through dust and mud puddles for several hours each day. As Fair viewing is also a bodily contact sport, toughen up by bumping into walls, trees and people. The people are apt to retaliate, so be ready, or else stick to trees. Finally, develop the deaf ear. This enables you to walk by booth after booth without hearing a thing they are saying. This is the way to financial salvation. Do this for a week and you are ready to see the Fair.

SERIOUSLY, THE FAIR is a great institution. We'll see you by the hog-pen. I'll be the one outside!

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

Legislators are people, which is a fact sometimes forgotten by those not content with the fruits of our parliamentary labors. We share with all others the same needs of supporting our families in reasonable circumstances, just as we do the temptations which come to all who must make decisions large and small. But as Legislators we find ourselves in the exceptional position of being required to decide our votes in the general public interest, not in that of our own personal ends. From that area of our responsibility arises that currently popular problem, "conflict of interest."

First thrust into the limelight at the federal level, and dramatized by the sometimes painful divestments of property required of candidates for high national office, the conflict of interest problem soon invaded the legislative realm, with the result that Congress and the Legislatures of two states have enacted laws to limit the possibility of conflicts between private and public interests in matters relating to the enactment of law.

In our two previous regular sessions, bills were introduced which would have established a "code of ethics" for Legislators and other state employees, but were not enacted into law. Measures for the same purpose were again put in the hopper early in this session. Two of them recently passed the first house, the Assembly, by substantial majorities after lengthy debate. A third was sent back to committee after extended discussion, and is not expected to reappear.

The first measure passed would establish a basic code of ethics for all Legislators, legislative employees, and other state administrative employees, consisting of nine major points. It would provide that no such individual could have any interest or engage in any activity which would be in substantial conflict with his public duties. Other employees which would impair his judgment in his official duties, or require disclosure of confidential information would be prohibited. Use of an official position to secure unwarranted privileges for the office-holders or others would be illegal.

Also prohibited would be participation as a state representative in business with an organization in which the state employee has a financial interest that might tend to conflict with his official duties. All Legislators, officers and employees would be required to act in such way as to avoid suspicion that they are, or would act contrary to their official duties.

The bill would bar personal investments in enterprises which might create conflicts of interest. It would also require filing written statements with the secretary of state as to any financial interests of more than $10,000 in any business subject to regulation by the state.

The second measure passed would prohibit any Legislator from participating in the enactment of legislation in which he has a personal interest unless he has first submitted a written statement describing his interest

WHAT'S DOING

R. C. Board, your Telephone Manager in Porterville

A "rock factory" in which man, not Mother Nature runs things, has recently gone into operation. It belongs to Western Electric, the manufacturing branch of the Bell System, and the rocks produced are quartz crystals.

Thin slices of quartz crystal are used in several types of telephone equipment. While there's lots of natural quartz in the world, big crystals that can be sliced are scarce and expensive.

To get around this, Western Electric is using a unique process to "grow" large crystals from small, inexpensive pieces of quartz. The man-made crystals (above) cost a lot less than large, natural ones. And because they are more evenly shaped, twice as many usable slices can be cut from them.

"I'd like the number for—" these are words Carol Picone hears all day long. She's an Information Operator.

A big share of the requests are for numbers of new phones. So Carol has to keep up-to-date on the latest changes.

Each morning, Carol and our other Information Operators get a complete list of all the new phone numbers.

In this way, "Information" is able to give you the number of a new phone installed as recently as the afternoon of the previous day.

With vacation time nearly here, Rex Miller is busy servicing the pay stations in the Porterville area.

Rex says, "No matter when you decide to go on your vacation, you're apt to meet lots of other vacationers and good accommodations may be scarce."

He points out that there is an easy remedy though; just call ahead for reservations by phone. It takes only a few minutes and can save you lots of time hunting for a vacancy.

CALCOT'S 34th ANNUAL MEETING JUNE 22

BAKERSFIELD, May 18—The date of Thursday, June 22, has been set for the 34th annual membership meeting of Calcot, Ltd., the cotton marketing cooperative which serves more than 4,000 members in California and Arizona.

Upwards of 5,000 persons are expected to attend the outdoor, picnic-style meeting which again will be held at Mooney's Grove, near Visalia.

Highlighting the meeting will be the annual report from J. Russell Kennedy, general manager, who will review the past marketing year's operation at Calcot and report the amount of this year's final payment.

"Our final payment to members will clearly show that this has been an outstanding year for Calcot," Kennedy commented.

Other highlights of the meeting will include "fun for all ages" cotton contests; a bale weight guessing contest for the juniors, a name-the-materials contest for the ladies; and a cotton classing contest for the men.

A high school band, to be chosen from one of the schools in the San Joaquin valley, will provide background music. At noon, the crowd will be treated to a southern-style barbecue with all the trimmings; there will be free refreshments.

Displays will backdrop the meeting area this year built around a theme of "Calcot and the World of Textiles."

TURKEY PRODUCTION PROBLEMS ON AGENDA

SACRAMENTO, May 18 — Problems of production, profit and promotion of turkeys will be discussed at Western Poultry Congress Turkey day, June 21, in Sacramento. Charles Paul, director of agriculture in California, will open the meeting; Carl Stout, president of the National Turkey federation, will also speak.

Medical Mirror WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT: To Sing or Not

Q. Should a boy whose voice has started to change be stopped from singing? Our chorus teacher says that this is not necessary.

A. This question has been debated for a long time. Most modern experts apparently agree that choir singing during the change is harmful. Schubert and Haydn are supposed to have lost their voices that way. Serious vocal training should not be begun by boys before age 18 or 19 and by girls before 17 years of age.

Royal Porter Putnam Journal

Tenth Installment

Tuesday the 24 Aug. 1858. — The day has passed & gone but I still remain. Have sold my mule & Saddle. Got $30.00. I have had the head ache to day, otherwise have felt very well. I perceive I am getting strong & think I will be around again. May it be so.

Wednesday the 25 of Aug. 1858. — This morning I arose feeling quite well. The ruff of the house appears to be a little hard for my hips. They are feeling quite sore. I have been laying on the Boat nearly all day. There has nothing transpired of any account. Weather — warm.

Thursday 26th Aug. 1858. — I am feeling better every day & think I will soon be strong enough to leave this place. I have a good appetite. I am staying with the mail boys. It has not cost me anything yet for my grub. I have only $60 Dollars & I must be saving with that. All is right.

Friday the 27th of Aug. 1858. — I have passed the day feeling about as usual. I am in hopes I will get around again. The day is hot. I feel lonely & bad. When will I get strong, Hardy & robust again.

Saturday the 28th of Aug. 1858. — The day has been a sorry one for me. I had a chill this morning & after that passed off a heavy fever set in & I have been very sick all day. I am all alone and no body to do the least thing for me, only what I get the Indians to do for me. Have vomited up all I have eat to day. This is discouraging for one in my predicament.

Sunday the 29th of Aug. 1858. — I have this day crossed the Colorado & gone into the Hospital. I am feeling quite well at present, but I am affraid I will be taken down again. I am getting quite discouraged & fear I shall never get around again. I have taken six pills & a glass of sirup of some kind. There is three Companys stationed at this Fort. The Houses are built well.

Monday Aug. 30th 1858. — I have felt quite well all day. My appetite is good, but I don't get much to eat. The day has not been so warm as usual. We have had a little rain storm which cooled the air. We had also a heavy sand storm.

Aug. Thursday 31st 1858. — This is muster day here at the Fort & the Commanding officer, Mr. Mannan inspects all that belongs to the Fort. The soldiers make a fine display this morning. It has rained some to day. The weather is a little cooler than 135 (degrees) I have felt quite well all day. This is encouraging to the sick one.

Wednesday the 1st of Sept. 1858. — The Hospital Stulance have had two water melons to eat to day. We bought them on the sly order. There is six of us in the Hospital. I am still improving in health. Weather moderate. Indians plenty but no sale for them.

Thursday the 2d of Sept. 1858. — Last night I suffered some from my bowels. They pain me much. I still keep moving, though I think I am not growing stronger very fast. I dream of home often. O! How I should like to be there at present. This sickness of mine would not be half so disagreeable. The day is warm.

Thermometer is 95 degrees.

Friday the 3d of Sept. 1858. — I have felt quite well this day, walked around considerable. My appetite still remains good. I think I am on a gain. I have had a piece of Musk Melon to day. The weather is warm. Thermometer is 103 in the shade. There is seven in the hospital now. Gained one more.

Saturday the 4th of Sept. /58. — I had some pain in my bowels last night otherwise I rested well. I am taking quinine for my medicine three times a day. I had pleasant dreams last night of home. This is lonesome place for me to be sick in. Yet I keep up good courage . . . weather that thermometer 103 dg.

Sunday the 5 of Sept. — We have gained an other patient to day. We number eight now. There is none of us very dangerous. This day is just the same as usual in this Country. People are ruff as the D-I. I am still progressing, feel a little better. The conversation in the hospital is very laughable, all right.

Monday the 6th of Sept. 1858. — Our patients has lost one of their number to day. He left the dreded hospital this morning. — I hope I may go soon. I feel well enough but am very weak. I rested very well last night, yet had a little pain in my bowels. The day is very warm & smokey & you can not see but a short distance. The Indians bring melons in abundance every day to sell to the soldiers. I dare not eat them.

Tuesday the 7 of Sept. 1858. — An other patient has left us to day. I have crossed the River to day & seen the Captain of the schooner. It is not certain how nor when I will leave this place. I must do something soon or I shall be strapped, that all . . .

Wednesday the 8th of Sept. 1858. — I have been down to Yagen's to day one mile below Town. I went down to see if I could get a chance to go a cross the Desert. I failed but think I can get a chance in a few days. The weather is getting some colder. My appetite is good, better, best, but the trouble is now I can not get enough to eat. Our rations are very light in the Hospital. Let me be removed from that dreaded House. I have seen & experienced enough to do me for the next 10 years.

Most gratefully Yours &c

ALTHOUGH A black and white picture does not really create the true impression, an idea of the backdrop for the Porterville fair outdoor Centennial show can be gained from these photos, which, top, show Mr. and Mrs. Bill Horst, right, and Marty Martin, putting finishing touches on the half acre or so of canvas used in the backdrop. Sections of the canvas are shown at left: An early R. Porter Putnam store, Gilliam and Gilmer's, and Pohlman & Lewen. The backdrop was designed by Horst from a composite of old Porterville Main street pictures, and is done in color; it is 75 feet long and 28 feet high. Working also on construction were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis, Clifford Clark, Loren McDonald, Terry Meek, Richard Boyd, and Mr. and Mrs. Hack Hutchinson. Paint was donated by Spalding Lumber company, Jones Hardware company, Paul Burney, Porterville Lumber and Materials company and Gibson Stationery. Impression of Main street in "the old days" will be created for the outdoor Centennial show each evening on the fair grounds, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

FISHIN'

By
Slim
Washburn

Good weather over last weekend gave the fishermen the best fishing since the season opened on the Tule River watershed. Streams were all well stocked with catchables, and fishing was good for both planted and native trout.

All streams will be stocked again this week, and with warmer weather due, fishing should continue excellent everywhere in this area this week, and the coming weekend. The exceptionally low water in all forks of the Tule will shorten the good fishing season by several weeks — not too many more weeks of good fishing left.

Reports from the pack stations at Quaking Aspen are that fishing conditions are ideal on Big Kern and Little Kern rivers. The water is low and the fish are hitting.

Program featured A.F.S. Youth Exchange. Jack Letsinger explained the program and asked for community support. Barbara Calkins told of her experiences in Germany last summer. John Smith was introduced as the one chosen to go to Europe this summer.

The Balch Park pack station will open this weekend, and trips will be possible to the high country streams and lakes. No reports from any of the lakes yet.

GETTING THE "feel" of the Porterville fair grounds last Sunday were a group of Vandalia 4-H members, who brought their steers and hogs in to weigh them, and to clean them up for the Porterville fair that opened this morning. In the wash racks, top photo, are Bobby Bennett, Mike Bennett and Vic Childs, with steers that they are showing. Bottom photo shows a group of Vandalia club feeder Herefords that are being shown at Porterville, but that will not be sold. If these animals come along as it appears they might, one or more of them could be in contention for champion at the Tulare County fair in September. (Farm Tribune photo)

CHAPEL CHIMES

By
Rev. N. J.
Thompson

One Sunday morning, we were walking down the sixth floor corridor of a big metropolitan hotel. On door after door we saw hanging a little card, bearing the familiar request: PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB.

Being disturbed is perhaps the very thing many of us need! Many of our churches need a positive attachment to Christ. Instead of pulpit essays on social economics and world politics, we need preaching about Calvary's cross, saving faith, and man's eternal destiny.

"My house shall be called a house of prayer," Jesus said. Can you call your church a house of prayer, or have the coffee hour and canasta games displaced Christ and His cross?

While half of the world is hungry and naked, Americans spend $7 billion a year for tobacco, $10.5 billion for alcoholic beverages, and $20 billion for boating, fishing, and swimming. How can we say, "Please do not disturb"?

It's disturbing to find that wealth, cars, TV, radios, farm machinery, and a thousand and one push-button devices to make life a picnic, still leave Americans so dissatisfied that they commit almost three million major crimes each year! And half a million drinkers become alcoholics every year.

The world's on fire, our nation's in grave peril, our hearthstones are breaking, while we play tiddlywinks. It's time to discard that PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB sign. It's time the alarm clock jolted us awake. It's time to pull our heads out of the sand and take inventory of ourselves.

We need God. We need to pray. We need a national re-

DOGS ARE STILL KILLING

WOODVILLE, May 18 — Killer packs of dogs are still running in the agricultural area of southeastern Tulare county. Latest incident was the killing of 30 geese by dogs on the Jim surgence of plain, old-fashioned honesty in government, business, and individual lives. That will come only when we're fully disturbed about the claims of Christ and His church.

Let's be disturbed. It'll do us good.

From Daybell
Nursery
By John

This week should find you at the fair munching hamburgers, viewing exhibits, eating Spanish food, signing for prizes, and being tempted by delicious cake with coffee. The food is our downfall and we hope they'll widen the aisles so we will still fit through after sampling at the various concessions.

Everyone is being asked to leave the grounds at closing time this year. There are various reasons for this but we understand the real reason is so they can separate the bearded wonders from the livestock. Some of the bush faces would bring a pretty good price at auction although the DOLLS that own them might sell cheap for cash.

We're displaying an "old fashioned garden" as our exhibit this year. We're not really sure what an old fashioned garden looked like but we'll have it worked out by fair time. We're getting help from Reece and Rodgers of the Farm Tribune because they were around during the "good old days" and have first hand information on the subject.

We plan to be around the exhibit this year to provide garden information and swap lies with other bush faces. We hope you'll bring your husband, and any other problems you have around the yard, to our old fashioned garden for discussion. Come early and enjoy the fair - it'll be the best ever.

for printing in the daily journal of his house. "Participation" is defined to include both introduction of a bill and advocacy of passage of a bill in committee or on the floor.

Conflict of interest is probably as old as the first legislative body. No one apparently knows why it did not emerge as a problem until recently. Undoubtedly many other state legislatures, like us, are giving serious consideration to the adoption of ethical codes.

THIRD GRADE COUNTY CERTIFICATE

State of California.

County of Tulare

The County Board of Examination, having examined Miss Ruby Anna Gibbons in compliance with the provisions of the Revised School Law, hereby issue this

THIRD GRADE COUNTY CERTIFICATE,

which entitles the holder to teach a Third Grade County School, and which shall remain valid for the terms of one year from date

Samuel G. Craghton
County Superintendent of Common Schools.

John Edwards

County Board of Examination

Office of County Superintendent of Common Schools,
Visalia Sept 6th, 1871

PORTERVILLE CITY MUSEUM NO. 168

ABOVE TEACHERS' certificate for Tulare county was issued on September 6, 1871, to Ruby Anna Gibbons, of Plano, when she was 18 years of age. She taught in Porterville's first school, a granary furnished by John B. Hockett, located about where the Porterville postoffice now is. She taught the next year at Outside Creek, then, in 1873, decided to further her education at San Jose, but when her father, Deming Gibbons, took her to Tulare to catch the train, she was followed by a young fellow named Clinton T. Brown, who talked her out of going, then married her in 1874. Jay Brown, who made the teachers' certificate available to us, is their son. Some of Miss Gibbons' pupils in Porterville were George Murry, Mattie Wilcox, Carl Tyler, and Clyde Tyler; she went to school to George Manley, at Vandalia. The "third grade" designation on the certificate does not refer to grade taught, but to the rating of the teacher, determined by an examination on a wide variety of subjects, given by the county superintendent of schools. Top rating was "first grade," with rating determining which school grades a teacher could be assigned to, according to Jay Brown. Insert photo is of Ruby Anna Gibbons.

EMPLOYEE OF YEAR

VISALIA, May 18 — Miss Eva Barnes, supervising public health nurse, has been named Tulare County Employee of the Year for 1961 by the Tulare County Employees association.

Keep Fruit Quality Up with Effective Control of Twig Borers

Season after season quality fruit brings top-of-the-market prices so it pays big dividends to keep quality high. Niatox® Niagara's DDT wettable powder, Phoskil® or Thiodan® will control twig borers in peaches, almonds, plums and nectarines. Protect the quality of your fruit and get top crop dollar with Niagara's sprays.

• Twig borers attack young tender growth causing twig die-back, crop loss and worm damage to fruit. Control the first hatch, stop this tree damage and crop loss with Niatox or Phoskil or Thiodan. Take advantage of Niagara's complete spray program for dependable, effective insect control.

Keep your insecticide costs at a minimum and your protection at maximum with Niagara insecticides, pesticides and miticides. For a low-cost, quality-protecting spray program, see your local Niagara Field Representative, or call SU 4-6795.

The livestock exhibitors' awards banquet is a "first" for this year's Porterville fair that is slated for May 18, 19 and 20. All Future Farmer and 4-H livestock exhibitors will be guests of Hastings Equipment company; parents and club leaders are invited to attend, with price of their tickets, $1.75.

Feature of the buffet dinner, that will start a half hour after completion of the fair's annual junior fat stock sale, will be presentation of awards to winning exhibitors.

The dinner will be served in the American Legion hall, just off the fair grounds, with Post 20, the American Legion, donating the hall for the event.

A STACK of boxes, hammers, paper, tacks, and ideas were being put together Sunday afternoon on the Porterville fair grounds as the above group started work on the Burton 4-H club booth. It doesn't look like much here, but when the fair opened this morning, the Burton booth was sharp and ready. ## HISTORICAL MEETING AT BALCH PARK

VISALIA, May 18 — Tulare County Historical society will hold its quarterly meeting on Sunday, May 21, at Balch Park and Mountain Home.

Members and the public are invited to bring their picnic lunch. Tables are reserved at Balch Park headquarters for the 12 o'clock lunch hour. The meeting is scheduled for 1:00 p.m., with Floyl Otter as speaker on points of historical interest in the area.

Anyone having information on early residents, the sawmills, redwoods and historical events in that vicinity are especially invited to take part in the group discussion. Those having pictures of this mountain area are asked to bring them for display.

Following the program a tour will be made in the Mountain Home area to points of historical interest, such as the Housetree, Centennial Stump, and Indian Pots.

Program committee in charge is William H. Joos of Porterville, chairman; Caroline Lowe of Tulare, James Wheeler, of Lindsay and Lawrence Glenn of Exeter.

FAIR

horses on Friday, May 19, at 12 noon.

On Friday, May 19, at 8 p.m., Tulare county's Maid of Cotton will present from the fair's main stage, plaques for county winners in a cotton window display contest, sponsored by the Tulare County Cotton Wives Auxiliary as a feature of National Cotton week.

Each night of the fair, winners in a southern Tulare county cotton dress contest for 4-H girls and high school home economics girls will be introduced from the fair stage, and will model their winning cotton dresses.

Judging in all divisions of the fair is set for Thursday, starting in the livestock divisions at 8:30 a.m.; judging in the fair's colorful Flower show will start at 11 a.m.

Grand champion fat stock judging will be held at 7 p.m., on Thursday; Future Farmer and 4-H showmanship competition is scheduled for 9 a.m., Friday, May 19; an open livestock judging contest will be a feature of the fair on Saturday, May 20, at 9 a.m.

Commercial exhibits, carrying a Centennial theme, will be on display throughout the fair; kiddie rides will be in operation; a record number of home economics and agricultural mechanics displays are indicated; food and drink concessions, operated by local organizations, will be open throughout the fair.

Now in its 14th year, the Porterville fair and junior livestock show is the largest event of its kind that operates in California without aid of state funds. It is set up as a non-profit trusteeship and administered by 12 directors. More than 150 persons assist with the fair in its various departments.
